

Expedition sailing, science and solutions for a clean ocean!

A Presentation by Rachael Z. Miller

7:00 PM, Friday, May 24th at Mantoloking Yacht Club
1228 Bay Avenue, Mantoloking

- Listen to an interesting presentation about the Rozalia Project's research and actions to keep both macro and microplastic out of our public waterways so that it doesn't make its way through the marine and human food web and into our bodies.
- The nonprofit Rozalia Project for a Clean Ocean team uses a combination of expedition science, innovation and education to make an impact from the surface to the seafloor in urban and coastal waters worldwide.
- Rachael Z. Miller is a National Geographic Explorer and Explorers Club Fellow and a former Mantoloking Yacht Club sailing instructor. She will leave you with actions you can take to protect our one big ocean at the Jersey Shore and beyond.
